R. N. BARBER IS ARRESTED

BANK CASHIER CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLING $9,357

FREED ON $1,000 BOND

Officer of Defunct Northwestern Bank of Burlington Junction is Bound Over to Circuit Court

Robert N. Barber, cashier of the Northwestern Bank of Burlington Junction, which was closed by its board of directors on Tuesday morning, May 25, on account of irregularities in the accounts kept by Barber, was arrested at his home in Burlington Junction about 10 o'clock last night by Sheriff Lowell B. Campbell and is charged with embezzling and converting bank funds to his own use.

Barber was brought to Maryville by Sheriff Campbell, waived his preliminary hearing and was bound over to Circuit Court under bail of $4,000. The bond was signed by Edward E. Hackett, Rolla H. Rees, Frank W. Nicholas and Judge Charles E. Walker, citizens of the Burlington Junction community.

Barber is charged with embezzling and converting to his own use $9,357, in an information filed by George P. Wright, prosecuting attorney.

Contains Five Counts

The first charge of the information alleges that Barber embezzled $790 on April 3, 1926, and converted it to his own use without the consent of the Northwestern Bank.

The second charge contains two counts, the first being embezzlement of $3,000 on Jan. 14, 1926, and the second count embezzlement of $487 on April 21, 1926. Both counts allege Barber took these sums without consent of the bank officers.

The third charge also contains two counts, one alleging embezzlement of $1080 on March 24, 1926, and the other one embezzlement of $4,000 on March 16, 1926. These counts also states that Barber converted this money to his own use without consent of the bank.

Barber's hearing was held about 11 o'clock last night before Justice W. L. Johnson in Maryville. Judge Johnson, Prosecutor Wright and other court officers were gotten out of bed when Mr. Barber said he wished to waive his preliminary and give bail at once. His bondsmen arrived a little after Barber did from Burlington Junction. The proceedings in Justice Johnson's court were not completed until about midnight.

Examiner Still at Work

Since the Northwestern Bank at Burlington Junction has been closed and R. E. Shelby, bank examiner, has been in charge, there have been many rumors of criminal action against Barber. It it understood Mr. Shelby will not complete his work there until some time next week. S .E. Evans of King City who was named as special deputy commissioner and who will have charge of the liquidation of the affairs of the Northwestern, has been at Burlington Junction since Tuesday and will take charge as soon as Mr. Shelby is through with his work.

Barber is a member of a well known Nodaway County family. He is 51 years old, having been born in Monroe Township on November 21, 1874. He entered the Northwestern bank as assistant cashier in 1898 and became cashier in 1904. He is married and has two children.

The bank itself was organized on April 6, 1883. At the time of its closing it had deposits of opproximately $127,000. Its capital stock was $25,000 and its last statement showed a surplus of $12,000.

NIGHT FILING FOR OFFICES

SEVERAL NEW CANDIDATES MAKE MORE INTEREST.

RATHBUN WITHDRAWS

W. R. Tilson and L. R. Holt Filed for Circuit Clerk—Two More Candidates for Recorder.

The filing of several candidates late yesterday will make the primary election on Tuesday, August 3, more interesting that it was expected to be a few days ago. Yesterday was the last day for candidates to file here for the primary.

Those who filed last night were:

W. R. Tilson and L. R. Holt for the Republican nomination for circuit clerk.

Virgil L. Rathbun and G. H. Westfall for the Democratic nomination for circuit clerk. Mr. Rathbun, the present circuit clerk, following his filing this morning with the announcement that he had withdrawn as a candidate to succeed himself and that he would enter the practice of law here about the first of the year.

Mrs. Bessie L. Bailey and Marion F. Smith for the Democratic nomination for recorder.

Judge E. T. Bailey for the Republican nomination for presiding judge of the county court.

Henry Heitman for the Democratic nomination for presiding judge of the county court.

James N. Billingsley and Frank L. Hinton the Democratic nomination for judge of the county court, north district.

Charles S. Armstrong for the Republican nomination for judge of the county court, south district.

Interest In Republican Race.

With Mr. Tilson and Mr. Holt as opponentas for the Republican nomination for circuit clerk, an interesting race is promised. Mr .Tilson is at present chairman of the Republican county committee. Mr. Holt was a candidate for sheriff against Lowell B. Campbell two years ago, being defeated in the election by Campbell by 539 votes.

G. H. Westfall for circuit clerk formerly occupied that office for two terms. He is now in business in Maryville.

The race for the Democratic nomination for recorder will also be lively. Mrs. Mamie Clardy, the present incumbent, is a candidate for re-election. Mrs. Bessie L. Bailey, who filed yesterday, lives west of Maryville and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, living east of Burlington Junction. The entry of Marion F. Smith into this race was a surprise. Smith was a candidate for recorder four years ago, being defeated by Mrs. Clardy for the nomination.

The present members of the county court, Judges E. T. Bailey, James N. Billingsley and Charles S. Armstrong, are all candidates to succeed themselves.

Henry Heitman, who seeks the Democratic nomination for presiding judge of the county court, is now and has been a member of the Polk township board for a number of years. He ran against Bailey four years ago. Frank L. Hinton of near Pickering is a new entry for the county court from the North district.

ASKS OUSTING FOR SIDENER

GENTRY TO FILE SUSPENSION MOTION WITH MIX.

EXPECT REPORT TODAY

Attorney-General Plans To Go To Arkansas To Argue Extradition Of Rutherford.

St. Louis, June 4.—Attorney-General Gentry announced today that he would file a motion with Circuit Judge Mix asking the suspension from office of Circuit Attorney Sidener pending disposition of criminal charges against him.

Sidener was named earlier in the week in an indictment charging bribery and conspiracy in connection with the release of Lieut. William Allen Scott Rutherford of Pine Bluff, Ark., for the slaying of Jack Tucker, a bellboy on payment of a $500 fine.

The attorney-general's motion probably will be filed late today, it was said.

The formal report of the grand jury investigating the Rutherford case is expected late this afternoon. The attorney-general will leave for Jefferson City following the report to confer with Governor Sam A. Baker in the naming of a successor to Sidener in the event of the latter's removal.

Later, Gentry is expected to go to Little Rock, Ark., to argue the question of extradition of Rutherford and his brother, John Rutherford, who is said to have admitted furnishing the money to obtain his brother's release.

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Redison of Denver, Colo., who have been visiting at the home of Miss Julia Tooher in Maryville, left for their home today.

COMING TOMORROW!

Beginning tomorrow, the Democrat-Forum and Tribune will publish a weekly general feature page. This will be a page for everybody. It will be a home page, a community page, a fun page, and a page of hints and ideas.

Tomorrow, J. Ross Fleetwood, county extension agent, will tell something about Nodaway County as he sees it in his daily travels.

Tomorrow, Miss Margaret Davison, county health nurse will give some practical advice concerning food for the summer time.

Tomorrow, E. W. Glenn, chairman of the industrial department at the State Teachers College, will give a review on styles in house building, showing how fundamentally the idea in houses does not change materially from year to year.

There will be notes on fashions for both women and men, and perhaps a bit of humor and maybe a few lines of poetry will be found.

And the kiddies! Oh yes, they won't be forgotten. Beginning tomorrow, the first of the Tales of Kiddie Katydid will appear. These stories were written for the Democrat-Forum and Tribune by Arthur Scott Bailey. They tell all about——but wait and see!

And that isn't all. The first page will appear tomorrow.

A Good Mystery Story

"The Bobcat," by Henry C. Rowland, is a story of the adventures of two lovers, who, because of their allegiance to a lonely old hermit, became entangled in a web of vicious intrigue. The manner in which young Pol Gaillard pieces together bits of evidence and exposes his persecutors makes this story one of interest from beginning to end.

"The Bobcat" will start in the Democrat-Forum and Tribune tomorrow.

HOUSE PASSES RIVER PROJECT

APPROVES THIRTY-FIVE-MILLION DOLLAR PROGRAM.

UP TO SENATE NOW

Little Hope For Final Action In Upper House At This Session Because of Jammed Calendar.

Washington, June 4.—The thirty-six million dollar rivers and harbors authorization bill was passed today by the House.

A fillibuster against the measure by a group of Middle Western members had been broken last night after a thirteen-hour session. The measure now goes to the Senate where its chance of passage at this session is slight because of the crowded calendar.

Before the final vote, the House overwhelmingly defeated an attempt to eliminate a provision for an additional survey of the all-American canal route across New York state.

An attempt to strike out the Illinois waterways project and a provision for the purchase of the Cape Cod canal at a cost of $11,500,000 was defeated by a vote of 225 to 121.

Skidmore Bonds Are Defeated Third Time

Vote At Yesterday's Election Is Nearly Identical With Last One.—456 For and 252 Against.

For a third time, the proposal to issue $85,000 in bonds for the erection of a new school building at Skidmore was defeated yesterday.

The vote, 456 for and 252 against, was almost identical with the result of the last election. The opposition had exactly the same number of votes, while those supporting the issue gained one. A two-thirds majority is required for a bond issue.

The total of votes cast at the election yesterday was 712, four ballots being thrown out as defective. The total at the second election was 718, but eleven ballots were thrown out.

Dr. J. E. Pierpoint, president of the board of education of the Skidmore consolidated district, stated that the board would meet soon to determine its next step. The present school building has been declared over-crowded and unsafe by the state department of education. It will be necessary to rent rooms for a grade school, it was declared, while the fate of the high school has not been determined.

Conference Results in No Traffic Change

Spaces Near Corners Will Be Marked Off and Motorists Prohibited From Parking in Them

A "family conference" by the City Council and members of the city police force resulted last night in the straightening out of a number of problems but in no decision to change present traffic rules, Mayor W. O. Garrett announced this morning.

The traffic views expressed by the various officers were widely divergent, the mayor said. An indirect result of the conference was a decision on more strict enforcement of the ordinance which provides that no car shall be parked nearer than twenty feet to any corner. These spaces will be marked off and an attempt made to keep them free at all times, so that drivers approaching a street intersection may be able to see the cars approaching from all other directions.

To express his own views on enforcement of ordinances and the function of police regulations, Mayor Garrett quoted from a newspaper clipping which read as follows:

"There is much to be said against courts, judges, policemen and lawyers . . . . . Still, if a man behaves pretty well, the judges, lawyers and policemen will tip their hats to him. I have a notion that policemen, judge and sheriff have great admiration for the citizen they see every day, but who never annoys them."

"There's a lot in that," the mayor asserted.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wood and daughter, Catherine, and Thomas Knox of Marcus, Ia., came today to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Knox. Mr. and Mrs. Wood and daughter are en route to Springfield, Mo., to visit Mrs. Wood's parents. Thomas Knox will remain for a several weeks visit with his uncle and family.

Committee Would O. K. President's Order

Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, Submits Tentative Report—Final Action Is Postponed.

Washington, June 4.—A tentative report, approving President Coolidge's action in issuing an executive order giving federal dry badges to state officers, was presented to the Senate judiciary committee today by Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana.

The report, upon which the committee postponed final action until tomorrow, contends that the presidential order was merely a declaration of policy, therefore neither illegal or unconstitutional.

It would further declare the appointment of state officers to federal offices a constitutional act and that the power to make the appointments rested in the hands of the internal revenue commission and the attorney-general, who were given the appointive power in the Volstead act.

SUPPORT FOR LLOYD GEORGE

APPEARS TO HAVE UPPER HAND OVER LORD OXFORD.

FAVORED BY LIBERALS

Lloyd George Takes Occasion to Deny Reports That He Intends to Bolt Party.

London, June 4.—Lloyd George appears to have the upper hand of Lord Oxford in their tilt for control of the Liberal party.

The former appears to have staged a complete comeback and whereas it appeared earlier in the week that he might be forced out of the party, it now appears that Lord Oxford will have to do some manuevering to save his fact and preserve his leadership.

The Liberal party in session last night was openly strongly in favor of Lloyd George. The committee postponed any definite action but a committee of three was appointed to advise Lord Oxford of the sense of the meeting.

It now appears likely that Lord Oxford will either have to stand by or Lloyd George will take his band of followers into the political storm.

It is understood that Lord Oxford will face a vote of confidence next week upon his program and unless he makes a change it is believed that he will be defeated.

Lloyd George has taken occasion to make a formal denial of reports that he intends to bolt the Liberal party, in a letter to a friend, which has been published.

Will Attempt Flight From Mexico to N. Y.

Three Mexican Army Aviators Will Also Attempt To Break Speed And Altitude Records.

Mexico City, June 4.—An airplane flight from Mexico to New York will be undertaken by three Mexican army pilots. President Calles has approved the project which was placed before him today by Secretary Amaro. The proposal for the flight originated at the army aviators' school, Amaro stated. During the flight the aviators hope to break both speed and altitude records.

U. S. Tennis Champion Undergoes Operation

Helen Wills of California, Now in France, Becomes Ill and Is Forced to Cancel Matches.

Paris, June 4.—Helen Wills of California, American tennis champion, underwent an operation at a hospital here tonight after she had become ill and had become forced to cancel her appearances in today's tennis matches.

As a result of her illness, it will be impossible for Miss Wills to meet Suzanne Lenglen as had been expected in the French championship now being played.

Physicians later in the day said they believed Miss Wills was suffering from appendicitis and an immediate operation was necessary. It was announced later that the operation had been successful.

SLUSH PROBE ON WEDNESDAY

PENNSYLVANIA G. O. P. PRIMARY TO BE INVESTIGATED.

DECISION IS REVERSED

Was Formerly Planned To Be Held After Congress Adjourned— Will Function Throughout Summer.

Washington, June 4.—The Senatorial slush fund investigation will open next Wednesday with an inquiry into reports that five million dollars were spent in Pennsylvania Republican Senatorial primary, the committee decided today in reversing an earlier decision which would have postponed the inquiry until after Congress adjourns.

The first witness summoned will be the executive chairman and treasurer of the committees which managed the campaigns of Senator George W. Pepper, Governor Gifford Pinchot and William S. Vare.

Washington, June 4—The Senate slush fund inquiry, growing out of charges that millions of dollars were squandered in the Senatorial primaries in Pennsylvania and Illinois will get under way as soon as Congress adjourns, it was learned today.

The investigation will carry the committee into every state where charges exist that slush funds were used to influence the electorate in its choice of party candidates for the Senate. The committee will investigate Democratic as well as Republican primaries but the start will be made in Pennsylvania where newspapers have declared five million dollars was spent in the Vare-Pepper-Pinchot contest.

The committee will function throughout the summer, keeping its wary ear open to slush fund charges in the contests preceding the November election.

As the Democrats have a lean treasury and have hopes of electing a Democratic Senate in the face of this inquiry, their spokesman on the committee will keep on the constant lookout for signs of Republican slush funds. The Democrats on the committee are Senators James A. Reed of Missouri and William H. King of Utah.

Farm Depletion Will Result in High Prices

Former-Governor Lowden of Illinois Says Present Trend To Cities Cannot Long Continue.

New York, June 4.—If depression of man power continues on the farm, the cities of the nation face the danger of a famine in the years to come, Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, today declared before the National Farm Schools conference.

"The fact is that the situation of agriculture is grave indeed," said Lowden. "A report recently issued by the department of agriculture states that the farm population of the United States was reduced almost one-half million during last year. This trend cannot go on long before there is a shortage of food, with resulting high prices to consumers."

Engineers to Ask for An Increase in Wages

Fireman Will Co-Operate, Affecting a Total of 200,000 Employes of 325 Railroads.

Cleveland, June 4.—A decision to ask for an increase in the wages of 90,000 employes in the brotherhood of locomotive engineers was reached today in a session of the 250 divisional chairmen. Members of the brotherhood of locomotive firemen will cooperate with the engineers and their demands which will effect a total of 200,000 employes of 325 railroads in the United States and Canada, it was said.

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

THIRTY YEARS OF MOVIES.

Today, it is said, there are over 20,000 moving picture theaters in the United States and a proportionate number in Canada, with a seating capacity of 20,000,000 and a weekly attendance of more than 130,000,000. At least 800 photoplays are produced every year, with twice as many "short subjects." The total number of feet of film produced is said to be close to 1,250,000,000.

The number of persons employed in the industry and the number of shareholders in producing companies run up into large figures.

All this represents the development of only 30 years. The first movies, consisting of jumpy, flickering images, were thrown on a canvas sheet in a New York music hall on April 27, 1896.

Most of the people familiar with screen plays now never knew, or have forgotten, what the early pictures were like. There has been tremendous improvement on the artistic side as well as the mechanical and financial. It is hard to imagine what another 30 years of similar advancement may achieve.

NEW GOAL IN SOCIAL WORK.

Social service used to be all "charity" in the narrow sense of the term. Alleviating the miseries of the poor was its chief aim. Even a brief perusal of the speeches made at the Social Workers' Conference in Cleveland reveals what a big change has come over social service in recent years. Said one speaker:

"The lines of class and other superficial distinctions have broken down. We find that the children of the well-to-do, even as those of the poor, call for the attention of the visiting teacher, of the juvenile court, that the paying patient may be just as much in need of medical or social service as the free patient, that the child of the very rich may even be malnourished no less than the child of the poverty-stricken family."

So today the goal is more truly "social," a condition in which "every individual becomes the best he can be and the community the finest and fullest expression of social life that it can be." There is less violent effort at reform and more effort to get individuals to working in harmony with economic and social laws.

OTHER JOBS FOR MINERS.

A speaker at the American Mining Congress urges idle coal miners in this country to go into agriculture. "They could produce food as well as coal," he says, "and reduce living costs for themselves and the public."

Of course they could. Only half our coal mines are being operated. Only half our coal miners are needed. Half of them might go to farming altogether, or those subject to intermittent employment might do so during the idle mining periods. But they don't. For some reason or other, the typical coal miner doesn't seem to care for any kind of work except digging coal. The sun and air don't seem to appeal to him as they should.

Farming itself is a part-time job, Henry Ford says. He proposes to alternate farming and factory work. He might try factory work for the miners who need some side line more than the farmers do. That could be done at the mines, and might suit the miners better.

The Standard Oil Company is getting slow. It has an oil well in the Arctic but hasn't yet established a gas station at the Pole.

It takes a lot of our dollars to support the government and a lot of France's governments to support the Franc.

Somebody has taken the suds out of Pilsudski. He has refused the presidency of Poland.

Some Americans, who have applauded the expulsion of various Europeans from this country as undesirables, think it's an outrage when England and Roumania take their cue from us and expel our own citizens.

High Moguls Sensitive About Being 'Mugged'

Even President Coolidge Gives Suggestions to Photographers Who Shoot His Physio.

Washington.—Washington's big men are mostly very sensitive about their pictures.

Everybody knows that women are pretty particular how their photographs look, but who'd suppose that a great he-man, high enough up in public life to be in the Senate or the cabinet or even the White House, would fret like a chorus girl, while being mugged, about lights and shadows, just the right expression on his map, his pose and his clothes?

Well, nearly all of them do. They honestly believe classy pictures of themselves in the newspapers make votes for them and that they lose votes if the pictures makes them appear homely.

They may be right, for all I know.

President Coolidge is one of the fussy ones.

He's very accommodating with photographers but he has his own ideas. He quite frankly knows that he doesn't photograph well and wants the best breaks he can get. He's been "shot" so much that he's learned a lot about it, too, and frequently makes suggestions that professionals can't afford to ignore.

Mrs. Coolidge, on the other hand, photographs exceptionally well. No doubt she also is aware of the fact. At any rate, she worries hardly any when picture-taking's going on, but leaves it to the cameraman.

Photographers all like Vice-President Dawes. From his "hell 'n' Maria" reputation one might conjecture that he'd be ferocious with 'em. On the contrary he's most obliging. Perhaps it's because he's one of the kind who generally "take" well.

Not Much Faith in "Bad Boy" Example

Stillman Method Of Pointing Out Result Isn't Well Received At Leavenworth Prison.

Leavenworth, Kan., June 4.—"Right this way to Sing Sing gentlemen; hear all about the story of what happened to Jesse James. Marshall Stillman speaking."

At least that is the way it sounds to the ears of the men spending a short sojourn in the Leavenworth federal prison. The boys are getting excited about this Stillman social idea. In fact, the boys of Leavenworth are getting worried about it. They feel that they can explain to the Stillman forces maybe that they can't stop crime by telling the gangsters what happened to the bad Dalton boys, for instance.

Today, the New Era, official journalistic effort at Leavenworth, has an editorial about the matter.

Engineers Make Survey of White Cloud Creek

Will Estimate Cost of Straightening Stream to Avoid Overflow After Big Rains.

Engineers are making a preliminary survey of the White Cloud creek for the purpose of estimating cost and making plans for the straightening of the creek from where it runs into the 102 River north to Bolckow to the bridge straight west of Barnard near the A. S. Blagg farm, a distance of something like five miles. One of the engineers from Hamburg, Ia., came last week and went over the ground, and has extra help this week while the survey is being made.

The creek has a habit of going on a rampage whenever a big rain comes and it is thought by straightening the river they can get away from a great amount of the damage done.—Barnard Bulletin.

Feeling the Pulse of the People

Question—Do you favor a national referendum for prohibition?

W. J. Dreyer, cleaner—"Yes, I think we should have a referendum. It would satisfy a lot of the people who are squawking about the matter. I think there isn't a chance in the world of ever having saloons back."

Garland Miller, teacher—"Yes, if we could have a real national referendum. I don't favor these conducted by newspapers, however. They reach the urban population almost exclusively and therefore get the majority of the 'wets'."

E. M. Houchens, contractor—"No—absolutely no—there is no occasion for a referendum or anything like it. We have no constitutional right. It can be done by the constitution of Missouri but not by that of the United States."

H. D. Snyder, banker—"Just off hand I'd say yes, but I haven't thought much about it."

Frank Myers, clothing salesman—"No, we didn't make prohibition by a referendum so why try to do away with it in that way? If they'd keep their mouths shut and fight it in Congress they could knock prohibition in the head."

Dr. Roy V. Canon—"Absolutely sure. It should be left to the people."

Bennett French, rural mail carrier—"Yes. Because of the dissatisfaction in the country I think we should see what the majority of the people think."

Dr. L. E. Dean—"No. I'm well suited with the Eighteenth Amendment and I think the majority of the people of the country too."

Steve Roach, restaurant proprietor—"I'm not in favor of a referendum at all. I believe in representative government."

Dr. William J. Powell—"There are a lot of things to consider. Naturally, I am for prohibition. I think the law hasn't been given a fair chance. It's a cinch, you don't see as many bread winners running around drunk."

What Nodaway County Churches Are Doing

TWENTY YEARS AFTER

Comment on the Uniform International Sunday School Lesson for June 6, 1926.
Read Genesis 25 to 34.

Wm. Southern, Jr.

In the book of Genesis are fifty chapters and through twenty-six of them runs the story of the life of Jacob.

It has been twenty years since Jacob fled the wrath of his brother Esau, built an altar at Bethel where he agreed to give God ten per cent of all he made and found his home with his Uncle Laban.

In this twenty years Jacob acquired two wives and eleven sons and one daughter. He also became rich in those other things which constituted riches in those days. He had flocks and herds, he had retainers by the score, he was a man to be considered.

Jacob was homesick. He wanted to see again the oaks of Mamre and drink of the water of the old farm wells. He wanted once more to visit the places which were sacred to him when he was a boy. He wanted to see his own family again.

But Jacob was afraid. When he left home his brother Esau had promised to kill him. Nobody knew better than Jacob how much cause Esau had to hate him and Jacob was afraid. He knew that were he in Esau's place he would never forget his wrongs and he judged Esau by himself.

He also knew that Esau was grown wealthy and was the head of strong tribes. He had heard from wandering travelers that Esau was the greatest man in the country and had hundreds of followers whom he ruled with a strong hand.

Jacob believed, however, that every man had his price. Here again he was judging others by himself. He had even tried to trade with God and pay a commission for prosperity. So he planned how he would appease the wrath of Esau and started for home.

It turned out that all his worry was for nothing. Esau was a different kind of a man. He was a hunter and a fisherman. He loved to live in the wilds. He loved danger and he loved the chase. He was prosperous. He had forgotten all about Jacob's meanness. But Jacob could not understand a man like that. He was wise in his day, but he had yet to learn that the men who live in the wilderness, the men who delight in hunting and fishing, the men who fight for the love of it, are not the kind of men who bear a grudge.

So it happened that the fears and the griefs which wrung Jacob's heart and sent him on his knees in prayer were of things which never happened. The trouble with him was he had done a mean act, he had betrayed his own brother, he had deceived his own father. All this he himself knew and his own conscience never let him rest.

As long as a sin is buried in your heart, as long as a sin has not been repented and brought out into the light, it festers and aches and burns. What a relief it must have been to Jacob when Esau ran to him and welcomed him home. What a joy it was to know that he need never spend another sleepless night, shaking with the fear of what his brother would do to him.

In the departments at Washington there is what is known as a conscience fund. There are many thousands of dollars in this fund. It is made up of monies sent anonymously by men and women with a little note saying they once defrauded Uncle Sam and although years had passed they could never forget that fraud.

Be sure your sin will find you out. It is the theme of many a story. Murderers are said to haunt the place where the crime was committed and many a man has fled and remained a wanderer for years and returned to face his crime and then for the first time slept peacefully although behind jail bars.

I have often heard men bitter because others whom they knew as wicked, as breakers of the law, had piled up riches while they themselves were poor. I have heard men grumble because crookedness seemed to prosper and goodness seemed to be borne down in hardships.

Truth forever on the scaffold, wrong
forever on the throne.—

This is the part they quote of the verse of Lowell, but it needs to be finished—

Yet that scaffold sways the future,
and, behind the dim unknown,
Standeth God, within the shadow,
keeping watch above His own.

Have you ever wrestled with God?

JACOB AND ESAU

Scripture Lesson—Gen. 33, 1-11.

1 And Jacob lifted up his eyes, and looked, and behold, Esau came, and with him four hundred men. And he divided the children unto Leah, and unto Rachel, and unto the two handmaids.

2 And he put the handmaids and their children foremost, and Leah and her children after, and Rachel and Joseph hindermost.

3 And he passed over before them, and bowed himself to the ground seven times, until he came near to his brother.

4 And Esau ran to meet him, and embraced him, and fell on his neck, and kissed him; and they wept.

5 And he lifted up his eyes, and saw the women and the children; and said, Who are those with thee? And he said, The children which God hath graciously given thy servant.

6 Then the handmaids came near, they and their children, and they bowed themselves.

7 And Leah also with her children came near, and bowed themselves: and after came Joseph near and Rachel, and they bowed themselves.

8 And he said, What meanest thou by all this drove which I met? And he said, These are to find grace in the sight of my lord.

9 And Esau said, I have enough my brother; keep that thou hast unto thyself.

10 And Jacob said, Nay, I pray thee, if now I have found grace in thy sight, then receive my present at my hand: for therefore I have seen thy face, as though I had seen the face of God, and thou wast pleased with me.

11 Take, I pray thee, my blessing that is brought to thee; because God hath dealt graciously with me, and because I have enough. And he urged him, and he took it.

Golden Text.—And be ye kind to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you.—Eph. 4, 32.

Have you in the face of a darkened future when you had done everything humanly possible and could not see an inch ahead, gotten down on your knees and wrestled in prayer? If you have you know just what Jacob went through when he thought Esau was waiting to wreck his fortunes and to kill him.

Why should Jacob have feared after God had promised to take care of him? His prayer had been answered and his name changed. Jacob was just like the balance of us. We never quite get enough faith to believe that God will keep all His promises. Another reason is that God expects us to use at least ordinary sense and to do the best we can.

One of the things which gives us to know that the Bible is true is that it conceals nothing. In the characters which move through the pages the bad as well as the good is related. Jacob does not appear a very loveable character in the first part of his life. His crooked deals are set out in detail.

There is a lot of satisfaction in this to most of us. If God can make a great and useful man out of one like Jacob, perhaps he may be able to make something out of us.

God tells us that our sins, brought to light and repented are forgiven but never does he absolve us from the natural results of the evils we do. There is always a scar somewhere. Jacob, forgiven, his name changed, a good man now, suffered all his life, in what happened to Dinah his daughter, in what happened to Joseph his best beloved son. The nation of Edomites, strong people of Esau, tormented the Israelites for generations. They would not let them go through their territory to get the promised land and the Bible record carries them in the picture, always hating the Hebrews, until the second century before Christ.

God does his great work in the hearts of men, moves us as pawns, all of us a part in the great plan. It required twenty years to make a Christian out of Jacob, the Hebrew nation passed through centuries of struggle before the nation became prosperous and great. Then centuries of decay.

It was all a part of God's great plan. We are a part of God's great plan. Time does not count. Our mistake is that we are impatient and want to reform the world and see the results in one short lifetime.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH. (Pickering).

Next Sunday is Children's Day in the Sunday School, and the program will be given in the morning, at 10 o'clock, in lieu of the regular Sunday School lesson. This will be a very interesting program of a varied nature, purporting to tell of the larger work of the church.

There is being organized in some of our American Colleges an American Association of Atheists, having as their purpose the destruction of faith in the minds of American youth. The newspaper would not have space enough for us to tell our opinion of those—be they college teachers, students, or what-not—who will deliberately destroy one's faith in God, and the Savior, without at least trying to replace the vacancy with something equally promising; something on which one can lay hold for solace when the loved one is placed beneath the sod; or something to which he can look with fond anticipation when he muses on the close of life's last day. Such is atheism, such is agnosticism, such is much of the "modernism" so-called, that is being given forth even from some pulpits in this day, and broadcast on the wings of the morning. Those who deny the divinity of Jesus, the authority of the Scriptures, and the miracles, cause countless ones to cry with Mary, 'They have taken my Lord out of the sepulchre, and I know not where they have laid Him."

That is why we need Children's Day. That is why you ought to come to Church next Sunday, give the Children a chance to make their appeal, and worship God with them. That is why we ought to make our Children's Day offering as large as possible. The money goes to build up faith among the peoples of the earth. Come to the Children's program next Sunday.

At night we hope to have an unveiling service for the pictures of two, who have spent their life in world service for the church. The Communion will also be given at the night service. We believe you will be interested in this service at eight o'clock.

Practice has begun on the Children's Day program to be given soon.

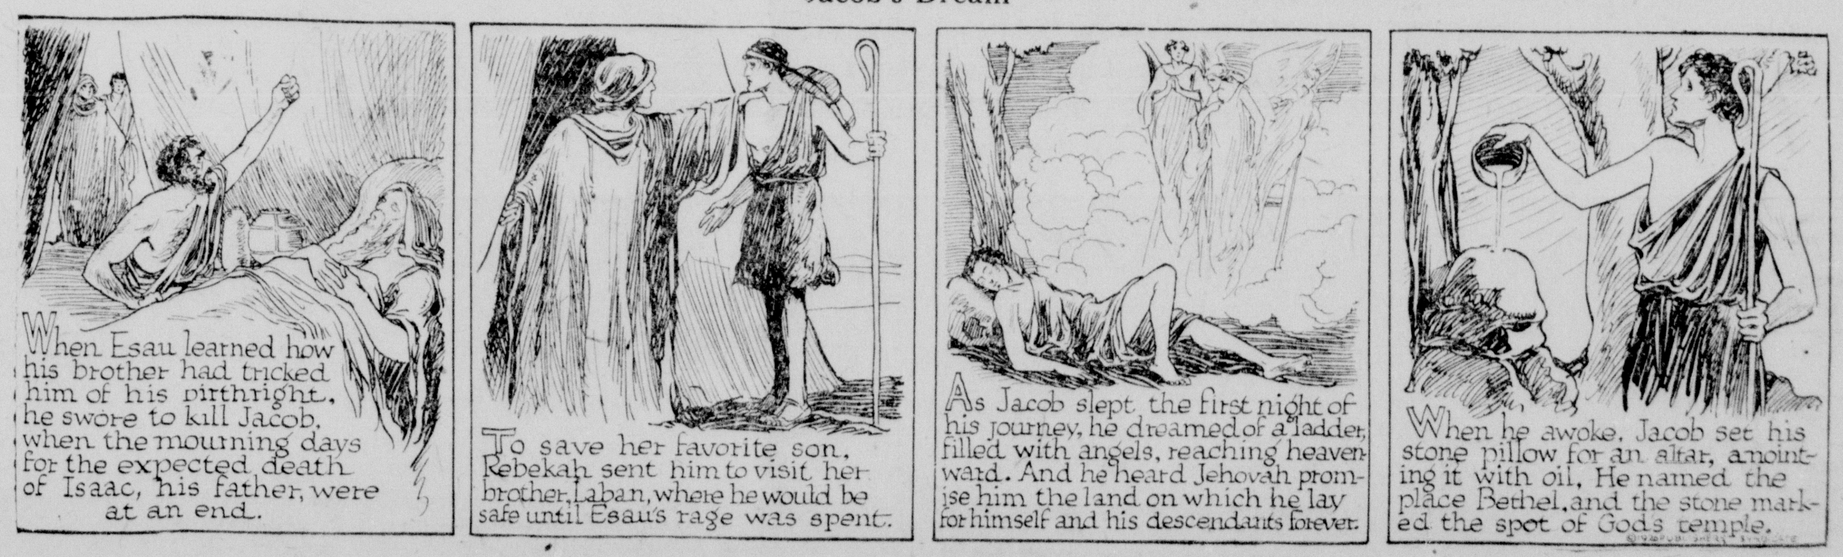
DRAMATIC EVENTS IN BIBLE HISTORY : : By Walter Scott and Harlowe R. Hoyt

Jacob's Dream



When Esau learned how his brother had tricked him of his birthright, he swore to kill Jacob, when the mourning days for the expected death of Isaac, his father, were at an end.
To save her favorite son, Rebekah sent him to visit her brother, Laban, where he would be safe until Esau's rage was spent.
As Jacob slept the first night of his journey, he dreamed of a ladder, filled with angels, reaching heavenward. And he heard Jehovah promise him the land on which he lay for himself and his descendants forever.
When he awoke, Jacob set his stone pillow for an altar, anointing it with oil. He named the place Bethel, and the stone marked the spot of God's temple.

Oliver October

By George Barr McCutcheon

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Oliver October Baxter, Ja., was born on a vile October day. His parents were prominent in the commercial, social and spiritual life of the town of Rumley. His father was proprietor of the hardware store. The night that Oliver October was born a gypsy queen reads his father's fortune and tells him what a wonderful future his son has before him, but after the reading, the gypsy becomes angry and leaves the house in a rage after telling Mr. Baxter that his son will never reach the age of thirty, and he will be hanged for a crime of which he is not guilty.

CHAPTER II.—Ten years elapse and Oliver's father is the owner of a business block in the town. Mrs. Baxter died when Oliver was nearing seven. Josephine Sage, wife of the minister, causes a sensation when she leaves Rumley to go on the stage. She becomes a "star" and later goes to London, where she scores a hit. Her daughter, Jane, and young Oliver become greatly attached to one another. After finishing college, young Oliver accepts a position in Chicago with an engineering company. He goes to China on an important mission for him firm. Upon his return he enlists in the Canadian army.

Chapter III.—The war over, Oliver returns to Chicago and is told by his employers that his services are no longer required. He returns home. He hears Jane is in love with Doctor Lansing. Jane and Oliver meet again. Oliver is reprimanded by his father for not getting another position. Oliver threatens to leave home.

CHAPTER IV.—Despite Mr. Baxter's pleading to Oliver to remain in Rumley, Oliver decides to accept a position in Chicago. Mr. Baxter accompanies Oliver through a swamp on the way to the Sage home. On the way they quarrel over Oliver's refusal to stay in Rumley. Mr. Sage tells Oliver his father fears the thing the gypsy predicted and wants his son to stay home, where he can watch over him. Oliver decides not to leave. Mr. Baxter fails to return home and is believed by some to have perished in the swamp. Oliver tells the authorities of the quarrel with his father, but they do not accuse him of having anything to do with his father's disappearance. Oliver takes charge of his father's business. Three months remain of the last year allotted to Oliver by the gypsy "queen." Uncle Horace Gooch announces himself as a candidate for state senator. Friends start a boom for young Oliver as candidate for state senator against old man Gooch. Jane forces Oliver to enter the race against his Shylock uncle.

CHAPTER V.—Oliver employs ditch diggers to drain part of the swamp where his father is supposed to have disappeared. Mr. Gooch's campaign managers urge him to withdraw from the race for senator, as they realize that Oliver is the most popular candidate. Mr. Gooch refuses to quit. Reverend Sage is happy when his actress wife cables him that she is sailing for home. Mr. Sage and his daughter go to New York to meet her. Mr. Gooch, convinced he would lose the election to Oliver, plans to try and intimidate him by demanding a thorough investigation into the disappearance of Oliver's father.

CHAPTER VI.—Hundreds of persons gather at the depot in Rumley to greet Mrs. Josephine Sage after an absence of 23 years. Jane notices Oliver is not in the throng at the station and is told by Sammy Parr that something of a political nature must have kept him away. Oliver goes to the Sage home.

CHAPTER VII.—The sheriff unwillingly serves papers on Oliver after the prosecutor refused to lay the matter of Mr. Baxter's disappearance before the grand jury as requested by Old Man Gooch, but accedes to his demand for an unofficial investigation. A few hotheads in the town talk of tar and feathers for Mr. Gooch. The detectives start digging in the swamp for Mr. Baxter's body. Detective Malone tells Oliver that Pete Hines saw Oliver and his father sitting on a log the night that old man Baxter disappeared.

CHAPTER VIII.—Oliver threatens to strike Malone if he ever insinuates again that he had anything to do with the disappearance of his father. At a reception given at Oliver's home Oliver tells Jane he loves her. She promises to marry him. While out on the porch they hear mysterious footsteps. Oliver tells Jane Peter Hines boarded up his cabin in the swamp and had skipped town. They see a light in the cabin. Jane's engagement to Oliver as announced at the reception.

Chapter IX.—Oliver spends a busy three weeks "electioneering" and speech-making while the opposition press prints sensational reports of the search for old man Baxtr. Oliver informs Malone he intends to put it up to a committee from headquarters as to whether he should withdraw from the senatorial race. Malone tells him to stay in the contest.

CHAPTER X.—Only six more days remain until Oliver is thirty years old, the time limit set by the gypsy "queen" for Oliver's execution. The diggers unearth a carcass in the swamp, but it is unrecognizable. The top of the skull was split wide open. Things looked bad for young Oliver. Oliver is unable to identify the body as that of his father. Oliver offers to release Jane from her promise.

CHAPTER XI.—Sammy Parr tells Oliver and his friends the people believe Oliver killed his father. Later, while taking Jane and her family home in his car Sam tells Jane he heard a man say Oliver should be strung up. Men are seen running and Jane, believing Oliver is in danger, demands to be taken to Oliver's home.

CHAPTER XII.—Oliver's home is surrounded by a mob. The mob forces an entrance and overpowers him. A noose is thrown over his head. He is led to a tree and strung up. Doc Lansing charges through the mob with his automobile. Lansing forces the hangman to loosen the rope and Oliver's limp body falls to the ground. Sammy Parr holds the mob at bay with a revolver while Jane's mother addresses the mob. She tells them of the gypsy's prophesy thirty years ago. Oliver is revived and taken to Jane's home where they are married by Reverend Sage.

CHAPTER XIII.

Mr. Gooch Sees Things at Night.

Horace Gooch was going to bed. He had had a hard day, and it was nine o'clock. He had a book, a well-worn copy of "David Harum," but he did not begin reading at once. He was thinking of the many dark and lonely nights old Oliver Baxter had spent in Death Swamp. It gave him a creepy feeling. He tucked the covers a little more tightly under his chin—but still the creepy feeling persisted.

"Hey, Horace!"

Someone was knocking at the front door—and the voice! There was only one voice in the world like that.

Mr. Gooch went to the window. He hesitated a moment, then boldly drew the curtain apart.

"Hello, Horace," came wafting up to Mr. Gooch. "That you? Say, open up and let me in."

Mr. Gooch grasped the window frame for support.

"Good G—d!" he gulped, but in a voice so strange and hollow that he did not recognize it as his own.

The figure drew nearer the house.

"I'm Ollie Baxter. For goodness sake, Horace, don't tell me you've forgotten your only brother-in-law. "I—"

"Go away! You're dead!"

"You come down here and let me in," cried the other. "I'll derned soon show you I'm not dead."

Mr. Gooch was not convinced. It was Oliver Baxter and he was very much alive.

"Well, what do you want?"

"I want to come in and spend the night with you, that's what I want."

Presently the two were seated in Gooch's warm kitchen.

"Now," demanded Mr. Gooch, "where have you been all this time?"

Mr. Baxter stretched out his wrinkled legs, and filled his pipe and lit it, all the while keeping his keen little eyes on his brother-in-law.

"Well, sir," he began presently; "I hunted this country over before I found her. She remembered everything. It took me nearly two weeks to get her to admit that she lied and I guess she wouldn't have done it if I hadn't offered her a hundred dollars to tell the truth."

"Are you talking about the gypsy who told his fortune?" inquired Mr. Gooch, comprehending suddenly.

"Yes. Queen Marguerite. I finally got her to confess that everything she said was false. Oliver ain't going to be hung any more than you or I. All spite work, she says. Got made at all of us."

"So that's what you've been up to, you blamed old idiot," exclaimed Gooch. "Letting us all think you were dead! That reminds me—I was just wondering whose body it is, since it can't possibly be yours. The one they found in the swamp yesterday, I mean."

Mr. Baxter inquired with sudden interest: "In the swamp, eh? Out in one of the pools? Why, it must be Tom Sharp's body. Tom Sharp was killed with an ax right out there on the edge of the swamp thirty years ago. He was killed by a gypsy—Say Horace, if they think that body is mine, who is supposed to have killed me?"

Mr. Gooch experienced a strange and unsuspected softening of the heart.

"A man that used to work around your place," said he, after a moment's hesitation.

Silence fell between them. Mr. Baxter was thinking profoundly, his brow wrinkled, his eyes fixed on one of his bony hands.

"Just so it wasn't—Oliver," he said at last, swallowing hard. He had removed the gaudy muffler. His Adam's apple rose and fell twice convulsively. "I'd hate to have people think he did it."

"Don't worry about that," said Mr. Gooch brusquely. "Get along to bed now."

(The End).

WHY CHAUNCEY DEPEW IS VIGOROUS AT 92

He, Like Geo. F. Baker, Watches His Teeth, Tonsils and Digestive Organs, Nipping in the Bud Any Disease Disturbance.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator From New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Not long ago I attended a dinner to celebrate the one hundredth birthday of the New York Central Railroad. It was an interesting occasion, because it brought together a great group of men, representing the leaders in finance and the leaders in American labor.

A hundred years is a long time for an American institution to survive. It makes us realize that our continent is advancing far on the road of civilization.

I was impressed by the active participation in this celebration of two old men. As years go, they are old, but in spirit, in energy, in devotion to duty, they possess perennial youth.

One of these men was Mr. George F. Baker. At eighty-five years of age he continues his control of great affairs in the financial world. Ruddy and red cheeked, he looks to be good for another score of years.

The hero of the occasion was Senator Chauncey M. Depew. He says he is ninety-two years of age, but his address of forty minutes was given with the spirit and enthusiasm of a man of forty.

A few days ago I had a letter from a civil employe of the Government complaining that the age limit in the proposed pension bill is too high. He said: "It is all very well for Senator Depew and other men of his type to approve the bill, but they never worked in a blast furnace or fired an engine. They would not have lived to be old and yet to be active if they had."

I am not defending the proposed bill, because I agree that seventy years is too old an age to put on such a measure. Personally I favor a retirement bill rather than a death benefit. The public servant who has slaved all his life for the government is entitled to generous treatment, as I see it.

But I am likewise certain that men who live to a ripe old age in an active business life would live just as long in any other calling, provided the same care is exercised in preserving the health. Mr. Baker and Mr. Depew had vigorous bodies to begin with, but they were sensible in that they gave heed to the trifling defects which are capable of developing into serious ailments.

Watchful care of the teeth, tonsils, digestive organs and organs of elimination had much to do with the present vigor of these old men. They had such tremendous affairs on hand that the doctor was called upon as soon as any ailment developed. Sickness was nipped in the bud and no opportunity was given for serious disease to get a start.

Carl Snyder came from St. Joseph Wednesday for a visit with his mother.

The young people held their devotional meeting at the Presbyterian church last Sunday night. At the close a business session was held. A name was chosen for the society, which hereafter will be known as The Graham Young People's Union, and the following officers were elected: president, Marjorie Bennet; vice-president, Roland Noblet; secretary, Louise McGinnis; treasurer, Louise Gex. Sunday evening, June 6, the meeting will be held at the Christian church.

Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Morgan have moved into the brick residence on Main street while their own home is being remodeled. The original building will be torn down and the newer addition moved back from the street and remodeled. This marks the passing of one of Graham's oldest buildings. The Freytag Hotel, which has been occupied by members of the family for over fifty years. It was built before the Civil War and was one of the first houses in Graham.

Sells Steers and Heifers at $9.15.

William Woodburn was among the Nodaway Countians who marketed stock at the St. Joseph market Wednesday. He sold a load of 720-pound steers and heifers that cleared at $9.15.

F. N. Martin and L. R. McMillan of Clearmont, were at the St. Joseph market yesterday.

Some from this vicinity will help with the Children's Day program at Good Hope and are now practicing for it.

Ray Loftin, who has been working for Elmer Hanna, went to Tarkio Saturday night to work and Earl Lock of Pickering is working for Elmer.

Rose Herbert of Hopkins visited at Will Boyds the latter part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Sweeney of Kansas City and Mrs. Coleman called on Mr. and Mrs. Ol Coleman, Sunday.

The Wednesday night program at Hopkins seems to have broken the drought, as it has rained and spoiled the programs the last two times.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson of Bedford were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Boyd.

Mrs. C. E. Hull and daughter, Ethel Mary, left last Saturday for Los Angeles, Cal., where they will visit relatives for the next two months.

Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Null drove to St. Joseph last Sunday afternoon and spent Monday and Tuesday forenoon visiting their daughter, Mrs. Lester Ellis and family, and at the home of Mrs. A. B. McGoldrick, a sister of Mrs. Null. They were accompanied on the trip by their granddaughters, Mary Katharine Null and Louise Jones.

Persons who visited White Oak cemetery on Decoration Day were impressed by the splendid condition in which the cemetery is kept.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. McGuire, the caretakers, have mowed the entire cemetery with a lawn mower several times this spring and should be complimented on the interest they take in keeping the cemetery in such good condition.

Oats planting and cultivating is progressing completely in this vicinity and corn is now being planted. Most fields now have a good stand and the corn is growing well. A good shower last Sunday evening and another Wednesday night have furnished all the moisture necessary for growth and the soil is in fine condition very long.

Alfalfa and meadows are being cut and are making a good crop.

Okmulgee Faces a Deluge of Onions

More Than 13,000,000 Plants Being Crop Valued At Quarter Million With No Market.

Okmulgee, Okla., June 4.—Okmulgee faces a deluge of onions.

More than 13,000,000 plants set out experimentally by Okmulgee farmers have grown to maturity and now the district has a crop valued at a quarter of a million with no market.

Unprepared for such unqualified success in the experiment, no co-operative organization was formed. The nearest shipping point is from 12 to 30 miles from the onion fields.

Unless a market can be found local agricultural experts predict gas masks will be needed in the rural districts because of the stench of decaying crops.

Here is the way the indignant citizens of Scottsbluff, Neb., expressed themselves when federal authorities refused to turn on the water in the North Platte irrigation district. Effigies of Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, and Elwood Mead, commissioner of reclamation, were hanged from a lamp post. Each photo shows the two effigies dangling side by side; at the left is one view showing the placards devoted to Dr. Work, and at the right is a view from the other side showing the treatment given Mead.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, June 6.—Grain prices closed uneven on the Chicago Board of Trade today as the result of an eleventh-hour dip in price levels. Wheat closed fractionally higher in all positions save December which was a quarter off.

Crop news was generally favorable and European dispatches about poor crop conditions induced a bullish feature into the pit.

Corn closed fractionally lower in all positions. It was firm until the late wheat dip. The fact that the large number of 401 cars of this grain were received here today had little or no effect on the pit. Cash prices were slightly lower.

Oats closed practically unchanged after another dull day.

Provisions closed higher on the good lard exports and higher hog prices.

Bellingham, Wash., Papers Pay Tribute to Dr. Frank Deerwester, First S. T. C. Head

The Bellingham, (Wash.) papers paid high tribute to the character, ability and standing of the late Dr. Frank Deerwester who died Monday, May 17, in a Bellingham hospital where he was taken after being found unconscious at the wheel of his car.

Dr. Deerwester was the first head of the Maryville State Teachers College being president from 1906 to 1907.

An article in the Bellingham Daily Herald gives the following account of Dr. Deerwester's death and funeral.

"Though facts concerning the accident are lacking, since Dr. Deerwester did not regain consciousness before his death, he apparently lost control of his car. His son-in-law, Ray E. Button, reported today that he had learned from a driver who was following Dr. Deerwester that when Dr. Deerwester applied his brakes, the car skidded. This man says that Dr. Deerwester started down the hill from Garden, not from Forest street, as was at first supposed.

"Welsh summoned assistance and Dr. Deerwester was removed to the hospital in a police car. He was attended by Dr. S. H. Johnson, who pronounced the cause of death to be cerebral hemorrhage. Dr. Johnson found no broken bones, but there were several bruises.

"A short time before the accident, Dr. Deerwester left his bookstore evidently in excellent spirits.

"Dr. Deerwester is survived by his widow, Mrs. Pearl L. Deerwester, 710 Sixteenth street; one daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Deerwester Button, Bellingham; one brother, Alva Deerwester, Butler, Mo.; a foster sister, Mrs. Harry Long, Wanconda, Wash., a step mother, Mrs. John Deerwester, also of Waconda, a grandson, Edwin Franklin Button, and four nephews.

"Dr. Deerwester was actively identified with many lodge, church, school and community activities. He was a member of Bellingham Bay Lodge, No. 44, F. & A. M., Bellingham Chapter No. 12, Royal Arch Masons, Knights Templar; Hesperus Commanderie No. 8, of which he was secretary for many years; the First Christian Church; Scottish Rite bodies, thirty-second degree, of Fort Scott, Kan. Service Camp W. O. W., the Hobby club, Rotary club Twentieth Century club, which he organized in 1908, American Legion and was recently appointed to the board of trustees of St. Luke's hospital.

"The deceased received a Doctor's degree at New York University, and took post graduate work at the University of Chicago, Harvard, University of Missouri, Clark University, Jena and Berlin universities, in Germany.

"He had planned to leave Saturday to teach at the Pittsburgh, Kan., Teachers College, where he instructed from 1919 to 1924. He went to that institution following work in the Chicago, Ill., Y. M. C. A., after service during the World War.

An editorial in the Bellingham Reveille says:

"Citizens of Bellingham are pained and shocked over the tragic death of Dr. Frank Deerwester.

"Here was one of the kindliest of men. He had been a part of this community for so long that his passing creates a void that will endure while memory of him remains.

"As an educator he ranked high. As a public-spirited citizen he was a community asset. As a friend he was ever devoted and considerate. He was a gentleman and a scholar in the best sense. Quiet and unobtrusive, he established a place in the attachments of men that comparatively few possessed. He was an idealist in most things, but his broad knowledge of life made him practical. He held and expressed opinions on public questions, but he was never over-critical. Indeed, he was so kind-hearted that the faults of others were looked upon by him as the lesser things of life, while their virtues he was ever ready to extol.

"A good citizen is gone. A community will sorely miss him."

Blue Grass Heading Starts; Men Working

With Grass Short Around Barnard, Farmers Seek Jobs In Other Localities.

Blue grass heading has started, but due to the limited amount of rain had for the past month most all of those who engage in the work very extensively have gone to other places to head, says the Barnard Bulletin.

Charles Buie and Archie Hubbell are working in Taylor County, Iowa and report that the grass is good, there having been a good rain there in the past week which has caused the grass to shoot up. Buie reports they have about 1,300 acres to head. Joe Eaton and Glen Mehaffey shipped their mules and headers to northeast of Kansas City where they have a large acreage under lease. Earl McCleave is heading in the territory around Hopkins. Ollie Breit has a number of headers at work as has Harvey Thompson, George Hager and Cleo Pollard.

Many others will probably run one header stripping their own grass or that of some of the neighbors. Boys are at work with hand strippers any place where they can find a place to work and the road side will soon have all blue grass seed stripped and the money resting in the boy's pocket to buy firecrackers with for the Fourth of July or if the boy happens to be real conservative, he may save a part for the Barnard Picnic.

Nodaway County was the leading county of the state in 1926 and Barnard handled a large part of the seed. They will handle a large amount of seed again this year, although not all will be headed within the county. The seed is expected to be of good quality and command a good price.

The blue grass heading industry has developed in the past few years in this part of the state and brings a large amount of money into the country. It is said that the heading of the grass does not injure the grass but has a tendeney to make it better as it cleans the pasture of all weeds and certainly is one crop that does not injure the soil. The labor and the cost of harvesting is very expensive.

For Love of His Absent Son

A year ago 7-year-old Lloyd Hikell disappeared with his mother from the home of his father, S. Hikell of omaha, Neb. Search proved futile, and Hikell resolved to observe each yearly anniversary of their disappearance by playing host to orphan children. This picture shows him at the first anniversary, when he gave a dinner to 200 homeless youngsters.

Long Sought Improvement In This State To Be An Actuality This Summer.

Marshall, Mo., June 4.—Building of Dikes on the Missouri river from Waverly to the mouth of the Osage river, and up the Osage to Linn Creek, Mo., by the government will soon be under way.

The long sought Missouri river improvement in Missouri is to be an actuality this summer, according to H. Hodgman, government engineer in charge of the project, who has moved here to make Marshall his headquarters during the work.

The dikes will be made up of piles driven three together, tied together at the top above low water mark for 14 feet. A huge pile driving government boat, is to be brought here soon, the engineer states.
